As a resident of NC (Raleigh), I can confirm that this is indeed for real and has been carried by multiple local news outlets (WRAL, NBC17, News Observer, etc.). I'm sure they think they're being clever, but if this passes (and that could be a big IF depending on how our newly elected Republican governor wants to position himself he has been trying to play both the staunch conservative and the moderate) it will simply be a litigious waste of time and money because this would likely not stand up in a federal court. It's getting the typical right-wing spin in the state though. Ever since the GOP made inroads into the NC legislature, they've been doing a lot of this. I suspect (or maybe just hope) that we will have an eventual return to normalcy after the relatively new GOP get the crazy out of their system. Or we could be trying to race the deep-south to the bottom. Who knows? (As a primer to NC politics, the Democrats held a majority in both houses from 1896 to 2010, until the Obama-backlash hit our state.)

Our deepest and sincerest condolences to the family. Words alone can not ease the pain when grieving the loss of a love one. The Bible provides comfort during these difficult times. Revelation 21:3-4 states, "And he will wipe out every tear from their eyes, and death will be no more, neither will mourning nor outcry nor pain be anymore. The former things have passed away". May God give you and your family comfort in your loving memories and in His promise that soon we will never experience losing our loved ones in death and we will be able to see them again once they resurrected as per John 5:28-29. May these words give you a new hope, with deepest sympathy and warmth of heart.

I met Mrs. Almond back in April when she and I were both in the hospital. She told me some of the Mills history since my late husband's grandfather was George Mills. You, her family have my sincere sympathy at her loss. She lived a long and happy life, and she is now with her family that went on before her. May God grant you peace today and in the days ahead.
