Dearest Judy: I am so very sorry that this season of profound loss is upon you. My heart is broken especially for you but also for Ashley's circle of friends and family. This sounds like something you and I could stand outside for hours after choir practice, in the chill, shifting through tears and thoughts and memories and questions of why life has to be this way. Why does it have to be this way? (from "Crucifixion" by Samuel Barber -- "ah sore to Him were the wounds -- but sorer still to Him was the wound that came upon his mother.") I am heart-broken for you. I know your life has changed drastically during this time, and no words can carry healing power equal to your wound. Please know I am there anytime for you, whatever the need. You are in my prayers, love and heart, and sincere sympathy are with you during this time. A genuine "Bless your precious heart" dearest Judy, and a candle is lit for Precious, Beautiful, Angel Ashley.

Judy, David and family, Don, Madison and I heard about Ashley on Tuesday and we just cannot express the sadness we feel for all of you. Madison said that he and Ashley were friends when both were attending Wingate University, but I had not seen her in a long time. What a beautiful young woman she turned out to be with such hope and promise. My heart breaks for you as I know the love for a child. No matter how old they are, the love just grows. Heaven has another angel today and you will be re-united one day. I know those may be just words, but as a Christian I truly believe that. My prayer is that our Father will heal your broken hearts and bless you with such wonderful memories of your cherished daughter. Our love and prayers go out to you and yours, but I truly pray that our Lord will bless you with a peace beyond all understanding.

Katherine & Art, Although we never met Ashley, we felt like we knew her. She was very beautiful as well as smart. Although her life was cut short, she is not suffering any more and she is still with you and watching over you as one of God's newest angels. Here is a poem for you: Do not stand at my grave and weep I am not there. I do not sleep. I am a thousand winds that blow. I am the diamond glints on snow. I am the sunlight on ripened grain. I am the gentle autumn rain. When you awaken in the morning's hush I am the swift uplifting rush Of quiet birds in circled flight. I am the soft stars that shine at night. Do not stand at my grave and cry; I am not there. I did not die. We are thinking about you and are here if you need ANYTHING. Love Beverly & Ed

Dearest Judy, Words are so inadequate at this time. We can't even imagine what you are living through with the passing of Ashley. Losing a child at any age goes right to the core. We know what that is like from experience. It sounds like she accomplished a great deal during her short life on this earth. I remember how proud you were of her. You were the best mom ever to her. She was and still is so beautiful. If you could use our help for anything, please don't hesitate to call us. We are hoping to come to the funeral Saturday. I broke my shoulder in early December after a fall, and then I fell again, so if we can't come, please know we are supporting you with every fiber of our spirits. Ashley is close to you now and holding you near her in all of this sadness. We are just so sorry. We have lost many in our family to cancer, but maybe Ashley will inspire heavens researchers to send us a cure. We love you, Judy. Cecelia and Dan de Mattos

I am so sorry for your loss. Although, I do not know your family personally, I would like to share some encouraging thoughts from the Bible. The Bible provides comfort during these difficult times. Revelation 21:3-4 states, And he will wipe out every tear from their eyes, and death will be no more, neither will mourning nor outcry nor pain be anymore. The former things have passed away. Very soon now, we will never experience losing our loved ones in death. May these words give you a new hope.

Judy, Messages of condolence continue to come in, people in the court house are saddened, Mia has posted this on Facebook, she has also written a couple beautiful tributes to Ashley. Nino, me, & Mia are in such a paralyzed state of disbelief that this young girl's life was taken from all of us. She was such a gift to us as an employee, a gifted attorney, and as it turned out "she was family." I can not begin to tell you how much we miss her and will always remember her positive spirit and that "always smiling face." As Mia said, "Ashley will not be defined by Cancer." She was defined by her beauty, brilliance and ability to have such a positive influence on others. She fought a valiant fight, but God had other plans for Ash. She is now someone we can call "God's beautiful angel." The Tinari family, the attorneys she worked with, Judges she appeared before, clients, our friends, her colleagues all are saddened and will keep you and her dad and all other family members in our prayers. Judy, a special thanks to you during this emotionally wrenching time, for staying in touch with me. I will never forget what you did. Love , Carol Tinari
