Vicky was one of the hardest working and bravest women I've ever known. As soon as her doctor told her that her cancer had spread she signed Do Not Resuscitate so her children would not have to make those hard decisions which she knew would be soon. She liked to make everyone laugh. She was a very special lady that everyone liked. She was my baby sister and I loved her with all my heart.

Vicky was a professional painter. I have happy memories of her and Carl when they were painting our kitchen and screened in porch. Smooth strokes and the feathering was remarkable!! She had a strong work ethic that she instilled in the sons that we know very well. She did enjoy a good laugh! I feel the quite and tranquil life Badin provides gave Vicky a sense of peace during the more recent years. JDH
