Ran-man, thank you for loving me as if I was your own. We will miss you so much, especially that laugh of yours. You were the best and I'd wish I'd met you sooner so I could love you longer. Thank you for supporting me through nursing school with your words of encouragement and never doubting the wife I could be for your son. You were always supportive of everything we did and someone to lean on for advice. My heart is broken that you had to go, but I'll see you when I get there and hope you're the first in line to give me a hug as soon i cross the threshold of those pearly gates. I love you more. -Kota
